

Transfer and Advanced Placement FRIENDLY! All course types noted are all okay to be accepted as General Elective, if not needed for the Loyola Core, Major, Adjuncts, or Language. Each degree-plan omits ONE of the below, depending upon the degree-plan (for example, Social Science degrees do not include the Loyola Core Social Science requirement, English degrees do not include the Writing About Literature requirement). Loyola Core	Category	Loyola Course Code	What's Acceptable in Dual-enrollment and Transfer (based on non-Honors degree-plans)	What's Acceptable in Advanced Placement (based on non-Honors degree-plans)
	First Year Seminar	SUBJ-T121	Transfer or dual enrollment for a similar First Year Experience: Required in the first semester for those not bringing credits for same, but designed to help you succeed for the rest of your degree.	Reviewed on a case by case basis, but generally only awarded for Dual-enrollment or transfer.
	English Composition	ENGL-T122 or A205	English Majors at Loyola take ENGL-A205, and most everyone else takes ENGL-T122. Other schools with a 1-class English Comp requirement can usually transfer their course as either T122 or A205. Other schools with a 2-class English Comp requirement can usually transfer the 1 st course as General Elective and the 2 nd course as T122 or A206. Loyola's Writing About Literature is a separate requirement – see below.	See specific Advanced Placement test scores (AP), Cambridge test scores, Dantes/DSST test scores, International Baccalaureate test scores (IB), and CLEP test scores: https://bulletin.loyno.edu/regulations/academic-credit-and-placement#advanced-placement-credit
	Math Depends upon degree-plan... but can satisfy the req or count in General Elective	In the same order as next cell: MathA110, A118, A116, A245, A257, A115, T122	Most STEM Majors: College Algebra, Pre-Calculus, Survey of Calculus, Calculus for Life Sciences, and/or Calculus; Most Business Majors: Finite Math; Most non-STEM Majors: Math Models.  We do not accept developmental math for credit (anything considered lower than College Algebra) – for example, a required recitation course.	https://bulletin.loyno.edu/regulations/academic-credit-and-placement#advanced-placement-credit
	Science I Depends upon degree-plan... but can satisfy the req or count in General Elective	SCIE-T129 except some STEM Majors, then, for example, BIOL-A106, CHEMA105 or PHYS A115 or A101	Any general, natural, science class can cover SCIE-T129, like astronomy, physics, geology, ecology, environment, psychology, or neuroscience including more advanced science classes like below.  Some STEM Majors: Specific, named science classes, often lecture/lab combos for Science Majors like General Chemistry, General Biology, or General Physics.	https://bulletin.loyno.edu/regulations/academic-credit-and-placement#advanced-placement-credit
